

Blog

The Blog component is a way to keep the lines of communication open between a school and the public. This component is available at each level of the program. The blog administrator must approve replies before they appear live on the site. The blog is useful as an online diary or a personal chronological log of thoughts published on a Web page. You can set up questions and people can reply to you or respond to other people. Unlike a message board, all replies concerning an individual question stay together.

For example:

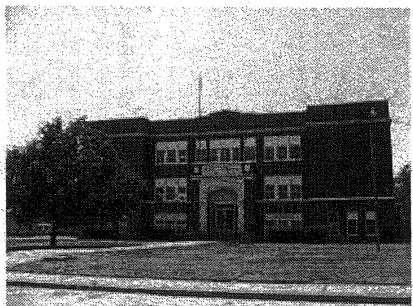

Teachers can use a blog to set up a help session with students in the evening. With the blog, students who need the extra help would be able to receive it. You can set a blog up so it is password protected to avoid outside interference.

The Ted J. Rake High School Administration has brought a proposal to the Board of Education for a new High School Building. The proposal included a 1.3% raise in the Jackson County property tax. We would like to hear your feelings on this new school issue. Your comments and feedback are very important to us.

I think that this District has been in need of a new High School for the past 10 years, therefore this is a GREAT idea.

Of-course this is great proposal...the school has been over crowed and under facilitated for a number of years! The increase in property tax shouldn't even be an issue, we need to make sure that there are enough desks and lockers for the current students at the school.

Being a Sophmore at the High School, I can first hand tell you how much we need a new school. The classrooms are so full that you can hardly fit down the isles with your backpack!
